Asbestos management masterclass

Your responsibility to manage asbestos risks

Thursday 8 March 2012 London Book now

Tuesday 13 March 2012 Manchester Book now

Revised guidance from the Health and Safety Executive (HSE) expanded the MDHS100 audience to surveyors, clients (duty holders), architects and others who may commission or use surveys. The content of HSG264 has critical implications for providers of social housing as asbestos cases rise: now is the time to ensure your are fully up to date with the guidance.

A keynote speaker from the HSE will give an update on the HSE's implementation of the regulations relating to non-licensable asbestos and when this will be in place.

UKAS-accredited organisation Environmental Essentials will discuss what the changes in regulation mean for social housing providers and how these changes can be put into practice.

Delegates will learn from practitioners how best to manage risks associated with asbestos:

- Refurbishment and demolition surveys, when these should be done, and the implication for your resources
- Legal updates on asbestos risks and relevant case law from the Shoosmiths team.
