"I've seen the amazing work that Britain's social enterprises already do to tackle some of our country's most intractable problems. I believe that Big Society Capital will play a major role in injecting significant resources and financial innovation into these schemes." David Cameron

Everyone knows the added value social housing providers bring to partnership – working to regenerate communities and help individuals become more economically sound. The Big Society and localism have raised the profile of such activities but money is short, putting existing schemes under threat.

Funding is out there for those in the know. But competition is stiff.

Why attend?

To get a better insight:

- Understand how social enterprise can make a difference – to your communities and your business
- Hear first-hand about the experience of others – what's worked, and potential pitfalls
- How to make your application stand out – innovation, commitment and great partnership working.

Sessions include:

Chaired by HQN Associate Elaine Upton.

Karen Lowthrop, Board Director of Social Enterprise UK, explains her organisation's work and the role of social enterprise in supporting communities (sharing examples from within and beyond the social housing sector).

Success stories including:

- Daniel Canavan, PM Training, Aspire Group
- Colette McKune, Director of Asset Management, City West Housing
- Tony Kiely, Neighbourhood Director, Plus Dane Group.

Get involved in debates, share ideas, pick up practical hints and tips about setting up similar schemes.

Who should attend?

Anyone involved in, or interested in, setting up a social enterprise scheme, including housing and asset management teams, resident involvement and community development staff, board members and councillors, tenants and voluntary agencies.
